

Media concentration is detrimental to democracy. The current level of concentration is excessive and should be reversed. We need Low-Power FM stations, and public stations other than the current NPR monopoly of what should be public radio. We do not need a media monopoly, which is already nearly in place.